Welcome to the Seychelles

One hundred and fifteen coral and granite islands rising up out of the Indian Ocean – this is the Seychelles! A dream come true with calm azure waters, deserted beaches and turquoise lagoons.

This string of islands offers sparkling white sandy beaches and coral reefs bustling with sea life. The flora and fauna are unique, the mountains are covered in lush vegetation, and the landscape offers a stunning and multi-faceted panorama. With a dramatic history, the Seychelles today is a true success story of people who claim origins from all over the world and live together with an unusual and inspiring degree of harmony in diversity.

Granitic and Coral Islands

Seychelles’ 115 islands fall under two distinct groups. The outstandingly beautiful granitic and coralline islands are fringed by white sandy beaches and encircled by coral reefs teaming with fish.

The three most popular islands in the Seychelles archipelago are Mahe, Praslin, and La Digue. Home to 98% of the Seychelles’ population, these three are clustered in the archipelago’s North East area known as the Inner Island group. Mahé and Praslin are Seychelles’ largest islands (nearby Silhouette Island is larger than La Digue, but less populated), and all three are granitic (versus coral). The Inner Islands also include other popular islands to visit, such as Denis, Bird, Silhouette, and North.

Climate

Seychelles’ enviable climate is always warm and without extremes. In this tropical haven, the temperature seldom drops below 24°C or rises above 32°C making Seychelles a year round destination for sun worshippers and beach lovers. During the North West trade winds that occur between October and March, the sea is generally calm and the weather warm and humid. In January and February the islands receive their life-giving rains, rejuvenating the rivers and streams. From May to September the weather is cooler and drier with livelier seas – particularly on the South Eastern Coasts.

Things to See & Do

For visitors who can tear themselves away from their resort, the Seychelles offer a wide variety of other things to see and do; from the prehistoric rainforest of Praslin’s National Park to the 70 beaches of Mahé and endless watersports. You could take an excursion to Mahe’s capital, Victoria, to admire its colonial mansions and meet the giant tortoises at the botanical gardens. You can also visit tiny islands such as beautiful La Digue, perhaps joining local fishermen in their boat for a day’s angling in the abundant waters.

You will find proud national monuments, beautiful Creole houses, artists’ studios, national reserves and marine parks, as well as breath taking natural wonders above and beneath the waves. There are guided nature tours to enjoy some of the rarest species of flora and fauna on earth. Not forgetting the mellow Seychelles nightlife where you can take in a casino, some local bars and fine restaurants offering unforgettable Creole and international cuisine.

Seychelles offers diverse and impressive diving experiences. The Inner Islands which are the remains of a submerged mountain range, rest on a shallow plateau with prolific marine life and excellent PADI diving facilities are available with access to a multitude of dive sites.

The Outer Islands to the south of the archipelago are all coralline or sand cays and mainly uninhabited, presenting the experienced diver with excellent opportunities to explore where few have gone before. If you are a certified diver, travel with proof of certification and discover this miracle of nature.

Coco De Mer & Black Parrot Suites: Praslin ****

Named after the unique Coco de Mer palm tree, this charming hotel enjoys a stunning location of natural beauty on the edge of the Indian Ocean on the West Coast of Praslin.

The spacious and comfortable accommodation has undergone a major refurbishment at the end of 2017. The main pool is shaped like the coco de mer and has incredible sea views. The atmosphere is friendly and laid back and there is an air of spaciousness, peace and tranquillity about the place.

There are some great accommodation options for families, and for those looking for a more romantic, just-the-two-of-us type of holiday, we recommend the exclusive Black Parrot Suites. Perched on a granite outcrop, the suites are more private and have their own bar and pool area – plus no children under 14 are allowed to stay in this wing of the hotel.

Guests can take a shuttle several times a week to Anse Lazio and explore one of the most beautiful beaches in Seychelles, or use the hotel’s bicycles to access the sandy coves along the coastline. We highly recommend getting a treatment in the glass-fronted Waterfront Spa which is suspended from the granite rocks. Or you can just chill out in a hammock.
