Welcome to Zanzibar

Jambo! This is the Swahili greeting that you will hear on arrival when you are welcomed by the warm and inviting locals.

Zanzibar is the name of an archipelago in the Indian Ocean just off the coast of East Africa. There are many small islands and two large ones: Unguja (the main island, informally referred to as ‘Zanzibar’), and Pemba Island. As the number one beach location in East Africa, Zanzibar offers lush plantations, an incredible history and a fascinating culture. Apart from historic Stone Town, with its labyrinth of narrow streets, Zanzibar is known for its beautiful palm-fringed beaches and pristine coral reefs.

Being a few degrees South of the equator, Zanzibar enjoys a very tropical climate. The average daytime high is between 28°C and 32°C and the night-time lows are between 20°C and 25°C. Temperature wise – this island is an all-year-round winner. February is very hot and very humid (leave your hair straightener at home!) and March to May are the wettest months.

Whether you spend your days lazing by the pool, sipping cocktails on the beach at sunset, diving in warm waters or enjoying a Dhow cruise around small islands, your Zanzibar holiday will be a memorable experience.

History

Zanzibar was inhabited by Portuguese navigators at the end of the 15th century and they were ousted 200 years later by the Omani Arabs. Zanzibar became a major centre for slave trading. The island became an Arab state and was an important centre of trade and politics in the region. European explorers, including Stanley and Livingstone, began their expeditions into the interior of Africa from Zanzibar in the late 1800’s. In 1964, the sultan and the government were overthrown in a revolution and in the same year, Zanzibar and Tanganyika combined to form the United Republic of Tanzania.

DID YOU KNOW?

- Due to its proximity to the Equator, Zanzibar is warm throughout the year and has equal length of days and nights (12 hours each).
- Zanzibar is popularly known as the Spice Island.
- Zanzibar has the largest number of carved doors in Africa.
- Freddie Mercury, lead singer of the band Queen, was born in Zanzibar in 1946. His birth name was actually Farouk Bulsara.

* The resort star rating indicated in this brochure is that certified by the Zanzibar Ministry of Information, Culture, Tourism and Sports and is not necessarily equivalent to South African star ratings.

Diving

With living reefs surrounding the islands, Zanzibar has excellent dive locations. The water temperature is warm, visibility is usually excellent, and currents are weak, all of which contributes to an ideal location for first time and novice divers. The waters are filled with colourful fish and there are many challenging dives as well. If you want to surf the current through a ravine, explore deeper water, or search for wrecks, there are dive companies that can make it happen for you. Many of the larger resorts on the North and East Coasts have professionally-run dive shops on-site. Qualified divers must produce their certification and a log book.

Shopping

Whether you’re in the market for T-shirts, spices, kangas, furniture or hand sewn pillow covers, Stone Town is a great place for shopping and bargain hunting. You will find the inevitable ashtray carved out of a coconut shell, but there are also beautiful Tinga-tinga paintings, woodcarvings and woven goods to keep almost everyone in the market for a tasteful souvenir.

Stone Town

Declared a UNESCO World Heritage Site in 2001, Stone Town is a mishmash of cultures, languages and architecture. Over the centuries, it has grown from a small fishing village to a thriving town with an extraordinary history. Walking around Stone Town, you can see the influence of the different cultures which make up Zanzibar. Coral and stone houses show off imposing Zanzibari doors with brass studs and carvings with scriptures from the Quran. A tour of the town is highly recommended.

Sea Cliff Resort & Spa ❁❁❁❁

With its remote location on the West Coast, this hotel lies in one of the less developed regions of Zanzibar, only 20 minutes from the historic town of Stone Town.

The Resort is hidden away down a 4km track through a coconut plantation and you emerge through the trees to a courtyard filled with tropical flowers, palms and a stunning view of the deep blue ocean. Modern and chic in typical Zanzibar Arabic style, and offering a selection of interleading rooms and a kids club, this resort is perfect for families. All of the main areas of Sea Cliff such as the restaurant and bar offer panoramic views of the Indian Ocean. Imagine eating breakfast overlooking the ocean and having sundowners on the jetty.

Whilst the atmosphere is relaxed and tranquil, there is lots to do; watersports, a gym, tennis and squash courts will keep you occupied, not to mention the Par 71 Peter Matkovitch designed golf course (9 holes and 18 tees) where you can even play “golf at twilight”.

A visit to Stone Town via the resort’s complimentary shuttle service is highly recommended, as is a horse ride along the beach at sunset or a soothing massage at the Shwari Spa.
