Fact Sheet

Elephant Camp Khao Sok National Park, Thailand

Elephant Camp is Thailand's first luxury tented jungle camp combining the camp idea of African national parks with the Thai tropical forest environment. A wonderful adventure through the forests of Khao Sok National Park, with an opportunity to visit the Elephant conservation project, home to 11 female elephants, where you will interact with the endangered Asian elephants in a unique way. You'll bathe them; chop their food and feed them; watch them play in the muddy pool and interact with their caretakers. A one-of-a-kind experience!

Location

Khao Sok National Park, Southern Thailand, accessible from the popular beach destinations like Phuket, Khao Lak, Krabi and even Koh Samui.

Accommodation

30 Luxurious tents are set in the largest area of rainforest in Southern Thailand. Each tent features twin beds, fan, kettle, and a luxurious bathroom with toilet and hot/cold shower. The tents provide ample space and are well protected against mosquitoes and other possible "intruders". The furniture is handmade by skilled craftsmen using natural materials and provides all the comfort a guest would normally find in a hotel room. There are enough lights to read by and fill your diaries with the days observations.
