

COVID TRAVEL TIPS

Get packing for your post-lockdown holiday with this handy Travel Guide!

In the “good old days” you just needed a passport and you were good to go on your holiday... now the most important travel document around is a Negative-PCR test! Please get familiar with the entry requirements of your destination and keep checking and re-checking on the requirements as things can change pretty regularly.

GENERAL REQUIREMENTS

TravelDoc is a free site that quickly and efficiently verifies passengers’ international travel documentation and health requirements, including those related to Covid-19, based on the travellers’ routing and destination www.traveldoc.aero. An alternative resource is www.iatatravelcentre.com/world.php.

PRE-DEPARTURE PCR TESTS

In many cases you will require a negative PCR test ahead of your trip. Please check this link for information: www.ampath.co.za/travellers-resources. A test certificate should contain the name of the passenger (as per passport), name and address of the testing laboratory, type of test stated as PCR test, date of sampling and the result of the test. SMS and electronic test notifications are not accepted.

SEYCHELLES

Visit advisory.seychelles.travel for the most up to date information. Visitors from South Africa are unable to travel to the Seychelles at this time.

MALDIVES

All guests travelling to and from Maldives are required to submit a self-health declaration within 24 hours prior to their departure to and again from Maldives. Passengers travelling to the Maldives must hold a negative Covid-19 PCR test certificate obtained within 96 hours prior to departure. Please access this website: imuga.immigration.gov.mv for all the information on travelling to the Maldives.

PCR tests for return to South Africa are available on each island resort and start from $150 per person**
