Welcome to Zanzibar

Jambo! This is the Swahili greeting that you will hear when you arrive in Zanzibar and you are welcomed by the warm and inviting locals.

Zanzibar is the name of an archipelago in the Indian Ocean just off the coast of East Africa. There are many small islands and two large ones: Unguja (the main island, informally referred to as ‘Zanzibar’), and Pemba Island. As the number one beach location in East Africa, Zanzibar offers lush plantations, an incredible history and a fascinating culture. Apart from historic Stone Town, with its labyrinth of narrow streets, Zanzibar is known for its beautiful palm-fringed beaches and pristine coral reefs.

Being a few degrees South of the equator, Zanzibar enjoys a very tropical climate. The average daytime high is between 28°C and 32°C and the night-time lows are between 20°C and 25°C. Temperature wise – this island is an all-year-round winner. February is very hot and very humid (leave your hair straightener at home!) and March to May are the wettest months.

Whether you spend your days lazing by the pool, sipping cocktails on the beach at sunset, diving in warm waters or enjoying a Dhow cruise around small islands, your Zanzibar holiday will be a memorable experience.

History

Zanzibar was inhabited by Portuguese navigators at the end of the 15th century and they were ousted 200 years later by the Omani Arabs. Zanzibar became a major centre for slave trading. The island became an Arab state and was an important centre of trade and politics in the region. European explorers, including Stanley and Livingstone, began their expeditions into the interior of Africa from Zanzibar in the late 1800’s. In 1964, the sultan and the government were overthrown in a revolution and in the same year, Zanzibar and Tanganyika combined to form the United Republic of Tanzania.

FACTORY FACTS

- Due to its proximity to the Equator, Zanzibar is warm throughout the year and has equal length of days and nights (12 hours each).
- Zanzibar is popularly known as the Spice Island.
- Zanzibar has the largest number of carved doors in Africa.
- Freddie Mercury, lead singer of the band Queen, was born in Zanzibar in 1946. His birth name was actually Farouk Bulsara.

* The resort star rating indicated in this brochure is that certified by the Zanzibar Ministry of Information, Culture, Tourism and Sports and is not necessarily equivalent to South African star ratings.

Diving

With living reefs surrounding the islands, Zanzibar has excellent dive locations. The water temperature is warm, visibility is usually excellent, and currents are weak, all of which contributes to an ideal location for first time and novice divers. The waters are filled with colourful fish and there are many challenging dives as well. If you want to surf the current through a ravine, explore deeper water, or search for wrecks, there are dive companies that can make it happen for you. Many of the larger resorts on the North and East Coasts have professionally-run dive shops on-site. Qualified divers must produce their certification and a log book.

Shopping

Whether you’re in the market for T-shirts, spices, kangas, furniture or hand sewn pillow covers, Stone Town is a great place for shopping and bargain hunting. You will find the inevitable ashtray carved out of a coconut shell, but there are also beautiful Tinga-tinga paintings, woodcarvings and woven goods to keep almost everyone in the market for a tasteful souvenir.

Stone Town

Declared a UNESCO World Heritage Site in 2001, Stone Town is a mishmash of cultures, languages and architecture. Over the centuries, it has grown from a small fishing village to a thriving town with an extraordinary history. Walking around Stone Town, you can see the influence of the different cultures which make up Zanzibar. Coral and stone houses show off imposing Zanzibari doors with brass studs and carvings with scriptures from the Quran. A tour of the town is highly recommended.

GOLD ZANZIBAR BEACH HOUSE & SPA

The location of this 5 Star property is superb, right on the most magnificent stretch of beach at Kendwa on Zanzibar's North West Coast.

There is very little tidal movement so the warm turquoise ocean is available for swimming all day. A combination of African and Arabic influences, elegant touches of Italian style, and the hallmark gold and white décor theme permeate the resort.

Experience the spacious and stylish rooms and suites with their funky gold bathrooms and cool calm atmosphere or one of the stunning Jungle Villas - each has two bedrooms, a private pool and butler service – wow!

We recommend lazy days here on the fabulous beach - you can even opt for an a la carte lunch served under the shade of your beach umbrella in your own private corner of paradise. If you upgrade to the Gourmet All Inclusive package, there is no additional cost to enjoy this spoil.

This is a beach holiday that is hard to beat.
